Acrobatics is a traditional Chinese performance, a huge challenge for acrobats' body. Began in Western Han Dynasty (202 B. C - 9 A. D), acrobatics has a history of over 2500 years. It is said that Emperor Wu of Western Dynasty was particularly fond of watching acrobatics. He entertained his foreign diplomats with the acrobatics show in his palace. Beijing is one of the places acrobatics is originated from. In old Beijing, Tian Qiao has been a long-standing spot for acrobats to perform. After the establishment of the new China, the team always performed there began to perform overseas, representing the Chinese acrobatics culture.

After such a long development, Tianqiao acrobatics has been evolved to meet the modern aesthetic concept. Beside the traditional Lion Dance, oral stunts, pagoda of bowls, juggling and wire walking, modern acrobatics show are more diversified with the development of modern technology. As a show requiring strength, confidence and courage, audiences are often amazed by the show and found in a sweat. While after the show, performers are much admired and respected. You should really have a look by yourself.
